

Elise Reuter
ereuter@summitdaily.com
Follow Me

Back to: NEWS
May 3, 2016
Follow News

Submit Your News

Business briefs: Summit homebuilder celebrates 10-year anniversary

Article

Comments (0)

Courtesy of Jonathan Huffman |

Pinnacle Mountain Homes celebrated its 10th anniversary at the end of April.

SUMMIT BUILDER CELEBRATES 10 YEARS

Pinnacle Mountain Homes celebrated its 10th anniversary at the end of April, surpassing $100 million in cumulative revenue. The Summit County-based homebuilder also celebrated a National Homebuilders platinum award for "Best in American Living," and being shortlisted for the 2016 Colorado Companies to Watch.

Since Chris Renner started the company with just a staff of two in a Wellington neighborhood garage, Pinnacle has built more than 70 homes. The company has since expanded to home management and vacation rentals, working with more than 130 properties.

"Pinnacle can now offer a continuum of services to our clients. At this point, we're designing, building, managing, furnishing, and renting properties for our clients," Renner said in a statement. "It's the complete life cycle."

< PREV | 2 of 2 images | NEXT >

Further reading...